

In 2008, DANIELLE STEN and LANCE GUILLERMO created, On the DL, when they fused their multi-faceted styles to create a raw dance experience. Danielle develops inspired contemporary works that is sought after by other innovators, dance companies and educational institutions. She strives to be an innovator of new ideas, styles, and techniques - pushing the boundaries of movement and beauty - rather than a follower of the present day trends. Lance works to preserve the art of hip-hop and teach the historical background of the hip hop movement. Because of his main influence, the original styles of hip hop, Lance incorporates b-boying (breakdance), popping, and locking in his choreography - he is known for being a "true original" in his field. Their matchless styles have won them numerous awards and their work has been highlighted in performances in Orlando, Florida, Las Vegas, Nevada, Los Angeles, California, and other parts of the country. Both have had the pleasure of working with music artists including Paula Abdul, Lady Gaga, Ciara, Three 6 Mafia, Gloria Estefan and more. Lance was a featured dancer in the 2006 Touchstone Pictures movie, "Step Up", and performed on the 2008 Teen Choice Awards as a member of the world renowned dance crew, ACDC (Adam Chu Dance Crew). Danielle, a national award winning performer, traveled coast to coast as an assistant to famously-known choreographer, Doug Caldwell of Tremaine Dance Convention, among others. Together, Danielle and Lance seek opportunities across the country to teach workshops and master classes, and choreograph unique compositions - hoping to inspire students and leave a memorable influence on all forms of dance.
